Senior Show

As we all know, we're in shelter-in-place, making an actual reception difficult and my plans for my senior show have changed accordingly. For the reception, I planned to host a cat cafe. Rather than present a gallery with wall works and sculptures, I intended to create an immersive installation experience that expresses my appreciation for cats in a more direct way. Now that everything is all digital, I am still carrying forward with my cat cafe and this website is designed to mimic an actual cat cafe business.

CONCEPT SKETCHES

On the side, are concept sketches for the show. First, the space layout I had planned for the gallery. In a dream scenario, I would have also liked to arrange for live cats to also be there during the reception. The next is this website's layout sketches. The following are sketches of the other elements of the show.

ARTWORK

Forest Cat

Heavily inspired by the Warrior Cats book series. It was the start of my love and interest in cats. I intended for this piece to be hung over a small reading space I would set up in the gallery space. I wanted to give a nod to where my inspiration came from.

Seaside Date

Springtime Meow

This is actually a gif, and available to see on the website.

Snooze

Roaring Cats

Running With Cats

Mao Hankerchief

MERCHANDISE

These are items that I have available at the “store”. During the actual reception, the player cards would have been on each table so people could play with them. The buttons were to be free to grab to take as a little souvenir from the show.
